

Content

PREFACE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	12
1. INTRODUCTION	15
2. THE BACKGROUND OF THE RISE OF THE DECOLONIAL MOVEMENT AND THEORY	22
2.1 The ghost of Cecil Rhodes	22
2.2 A global movement	24
2.3 The fall of the West and the rise of the rest	27
2.4 The collapse of the socialist bloc and the demise of Marxism	29
2.4.1 The rise and fall of socialism	29
2.4.2 The story of Aimé Césaire	32
2.5 The crisis of Western civilization	34
3. TWO EUROCENTRIC PHILOSOPHIES OF LIBERATION	38
3.1 The White Enlightenment	38
3.2 Liberalism as a philosophy of liberation	39
3.2.1 The view on world history	39
3.2.2 Economic theory	41
3.2.3 Political theory	43
3.2.3.1 The concept of parliamentary democracy	43
3.2.3.2 The concept of the separation of church and state	44
3.2.3.3 The concept of the nation-state	45
3.2.3.4 The concept of the separation of powers	45
3.2.4 Social theory	46
3.2.5 Cultural theory	48
3.2.6 Liberalism in the colonial world	48
3.3 Marxism as a philosophy of liberation	50
3.3.1 The view on world history	50
3.3.2 Economic theory	54
3.3.3 Political theory	55
3.3.4 Social theory	59
3.3.5 Cultural theory	63
3.3.6 Marxism in the colonial world	63
3.4 The rise of decolonial theory	65
3.4.1 Decolonial concepts in the struggle against colonialism	65
3.4.2 The role of academia	68
4. MENTAL SLAVERY AND THE COLONIZATION OF THE MIND	70
4.1 What is colonialism?	70
4.1.1 Definition	70

4.1.2	Colonialism, Liberalism and Marxism	72
4.1.3	The colonial world civilization	73
4.1.3.1	Empires and civilization	73
4.1.3.2	The institutional approach	76
4.2	What is mental slavery?	80
4.3	The process of the colonization of the mind	83
4.3.1	The mechanisms of the colonization of the mind	83
4.3.1.1	The method of case studies	84
4.3.1.2	The method of studying handbooks for the colonization of the mind	89
4.3.1.3	The method of studying the institutions of knowledge transfer	93
4.4	Decolonization of the mind	96
4.4.1	Decolonial concepts expressed in deeds	96
4.4.2	The global articulation of the concept of mental slavery	97
4.4.3	The theoretical approach to decolonizing the mind	104
4.5	A preliminary list of mechanism to colonize the mind	106
4.5.1	Introduction	106
4.5.2	Producing and spreading lies	106
4.5.3	Divide and rule	106
4.5.4	The use of hypocrisy and double standards	107
4.5.5	The organization of amnesia (lost of memory)	107
4.5.6	Use intimidation to silence voices of critique	108
4.5.7	The promotion of the idea that politics is a struggle between good and evil	108
4.5.8	Use the instrument of demonization to prevent conflict resolution	109
4.5.9	Humanizing the criminal and dehumanizing the victim	109
4.5.10	Shift the focus from the message to the messenger	109
4.5.11	Shut down the outlets that provides answers to Western propaganda	110
4.5.12	Present a white minority as an international majority	110
4.5.13	Using good grade scales for bad phenomena	110
4.5.14	Blaming the victim for the crime	111
4.5.15	Present ethics as facts	111
4.5.16	Use the house negro to assure the colonizer that they are loved by the colonized	112
4.5.17	Make simple matters complex to sow confusion	112
4.5.18	Replace empirical method by axiomatic approach	113
4.5.19	Thanking colonialism for things they have not done	113
4.5.20	Promoting self-humiliation and breaking self confidence and identity	114
4.5.21	Installing taboos in order to prevent a challenge to dominant narratives	115
4.5.22	Use white savior to block the development of capacity of people of color	115
4.5.23	Present Eurocentric arguments as rational and non-Eurocentric arguments as emotional	115
4.5.24	Creating the illusion for joint responsibilities for historic crimes	116

4.5.25	Using historic names and labels to colonize the mind	116
4.5.26	Make a crime personal when the perpetrator is white and make it ethnic or racial when the perpetrator is a person of color	116
4.5.27	Linking divinity to white color	116
4.5.28	Blurring the distinction between form and essence	117
4.5.29	Portraying courtesy as submission and assertiveness as aggression	117
4.5.30	Use two-value logic to corner an opponent	118
4.5.31	Remove ethics from logic: freedom of expression and insult versus civilized behavior	118
4.5.32	Personalizing the evil enemy	119
4.5.33	Flipping the narrative of oppression	119
4.5.34	Use a ridiculous argument to ban serious arguments	119
4.5.35	Use an appealing argument to cover a ridiculous argument	119
4.6	How to move forward with DTM	120
5.	EPISTEMOLOGY: THE MANIPULATION OF THE MIND THROUGH KNOWLEDGE PRODUCTION	123
5.1	What is epistemology?	123
5.2	The canon of Eurocentric epistemology	124
5.2.1	Science, religion and the authority of knowledge	124
5.2.2	How ethics was removed from science in the European Enlightenment	126
5.2.3	The canon of Eurocentric epistemology	128
5.3	A framework for a DTM epistemology: conceptual thinking	131
5.3.1	The concept	131
5.3.2	The producers of decolonial knowledge	133
5.4	The production of lies	134
5.4.1	Truth, lies and the colonization of the mind	134
5.4.2	An example of the construction of lies presented as knowledge	137
5.4.2.1	The terminology	137
5.4.2.2	The selection of the observations	138
5.4.2.3	The analysis	140
5.4.2.4	The theory	141
5.4.2.5	The ethics	141
5.5	Research methods	143
5.5.1	Natural and social laws	143
5.5.2	The sources of knowledge about the social world	145
5.5.2.1	Innate knowledge	146
5.5.2.2	Common sense	148
5.5.2.3	Social interaction	150
5.5.2.4	Creativity and imagination	150
5.5.2.5	Cosmology	151
5.5.2.6	The particular location of observations	151
5.5.3	Ethics and knowledge	152
5.5.4	Knowledge, nature and human beings	153

5.6	The limitations of Eurocentric logic	155
5.7	Epistemology of the future	160
5.8	Other issues in DTM epistemology	162
5.8.1	The problem of universalism and multiple truths	162
5.8.2	Knowledge production and power	164
5.8.3	Decolonizing science	166
6.	A DTM THEORY OF RACISM	167
6.1	Introduction	167
6.2	Theological racism	168
6.2.1	Introduction	168
6.2.2	The authority of knowledge at the start of colonialism	168
6.2.3	Religion and colonization	170
6.2.4	The debate of Valladolid	171
6.2.4.1	The background	171
6.2.4.2	The organization of the debate	172
6.2.4.3	The questions	173
6.2.4.4	The propositions of Sepúlveda	174
6.2.4.5	The response of Las Casas	178
6.2.5	The aftermath of the debate	185
6.2.5.1	The policy	185
6.2.5.2	The Indigenous response	186
6.2.5.3	The significance of the Valladolid debate	187
6.3	Biological racism	188
6.3.1	The white Enlightenment	188
6.3.2	The relationship of biological racism with European enslavement	191
6.4	Cultural racism	194
6.4.1	The abolition of legal enslavement	194
6.4.2	The geographical shift	195
6.4.3	The rise of the social sciences	196
6.4.4	Racism and Islamophobia	201
6.4.5	Superior and inferior civilizations	204
6.5	Superiority and inferiority before Western colonialism	206
6.6	Liberal theories of racism	208
6.6.1	Liberal theories	208
6.6.2	The psychological approach	208
6.6.3	The personality approach	209
6.6.4	The theory of white privilege	210
6.6.5	The theory of everyday racism	211
6.6.6	The theory of intersectionality	214
6.6.7	Critical Race Theory (CRT)	217
6.7	Marxist theories of racism	219
6.8	Racism and anti-semitism	222
7.	DECOLONIZING MATHEMATICS AND THE NATURAL SCIENCES	224

7.1	Introduction	224
7.2	A critique of the Western historiography of mathematics	226
7.3	A critique of the foundations of Euromathematics	230
7.3.1	Mathematics, empirical proof, invalid knowledge and fantasies	230
7.3.1.1	Proof that $1+1=2$	231
7.3.1.2	The Ramanujan summation	233
7.3.2	The role of authority of mathematicians	236
7.4	A critique of the use of Euromathematics	237
7.4.1	Mathematics and natural laws	237
7.4.2	Mathematics and social sciences	239
7.5	The concept of reverse engineering in mathematics and technology	242
7.6	A new educational system for mathematics	244
7.7	Decolonizing the natural sciences	246
7.7.1	A critique of the Western historiography of natural sciences	246
7.7.2	A critique of the Western concept of the relationship between humans and nature	248
7.7.3	A critique of the Western concept of the role ethics in natural sciences	250
7.7.4	A critique of the limits of natural sciences	251
8.	DECOLONIZING WORLD HISTORY	253
8.1	A decolonial view of world history	253
8.1.1	The importance of a view on world history	253
8.1.2	The concept of civilization	256
8.1.3	The development of civilizations and empires	257
8.1.4	World history and the colonization of the mind	259
8.2	The African roots of Western civilization	260
8.3	The role of Nazism and the Jewish Holocaust in Western civilization	266
8.3.1	Nazism	266
8.3.2	Denazification	274
8.3.3	The lessons from the Jewish Holocaust	276
8.4	The meaning of colonial genocides	278
8.4.1	The genocides of modernity	278
8.4.2	How to deal with historical injustice	281
9	DECOLONIZING ECONOMIC THEORY	285
9.1	The critique of basic concepts of Euro-economics	285
9.1.1	Introduction	285
9.1.2	A critique of Liberal economics	286
9.1.3	A critique of Marxist economics	289
9.2	Non-Western economic theories	291
9.2.1	Economic critique	291
9.2.2	Economic theories from other civilizations	293
9.2.2.1	General observations	293
9.2.2.2	Buddhist economics	294
9.2.2.3	Islamic economics	296

9.2.2.4	Indian economics	299
9.2.2.5	Chinese economics	301
9.2.2.6	Learning from other civilizations	303
9.3	Economic lessons from modern revolutions	303
9.3.1	The Haitian Revolution	303
9.3.2	Socialist revolutions	306
9.3.2.1	The theoretical dilemmas	306
9.3.2.2	The experience of the Soviet Union	308
9.3.2.3	The experience of China	314
9.3.2.4	The experience of Cuba	322
9.3.2.5	The experience of Bolivia	327
9.4	Principles of decolonial economic theory	329
9.4.1	Definition of economics	329
9.4.2	The economic order	330
9.4.3	The state, markets and entrepreneurs	332
9.4.4	International economics	333
9.4.5	Political economy	335
9.4.6	A decolonial economic world order	336
10	DECOLONIZING SOCIAL THEORY	339
10.1	Introduction	339
10.2	The relationship between social theory and sources of knowledge	340
10.2.1	Innate knowledge	340
10.2.2	Common sense	342
10.2.3	Social interaction	343
10.2.4	Creativity and imagination	344
10.2.5	Cosmology	344
10.3	The methodology of social research	345
10.4	Basic concepts of social relations	350
10.4.1	Moral categories	350
10.4.2	A DTM perspective on social relations	352
10.4.3	Gender	356
10.4.4	Ethnicity	371
11	DECOLONIZING CULTURAL THEORY	376
11.1	A critique of cultural theory	376
11.1.1	What is culture?	376
11.1.2	A critique of Liberal theories of culture	376
11.1.2.1	Cultural anthropology	376
11.1.2.2	Psychology	379
11.1.3	A critique of Marxist theories of culture	385
11.2	A DTM theory of culture	387
11.2.1	Topics in DTM cultural theory	387
11.2.2	Identity formation	387
11.2.2.1	What is identity?	387

11.2.2.2	Individual identity and group identity	388
11.2.2.3	Identity formation and politics	393
11.2.3	Decolonizing the university	395
11.2.4	Decolonizing the media	400
11.2.4.1	Stuart Hall and encoding/decoding	400
11.2.4.2	The colonization of communication	401
11.2.5	Decolonizing art	404
12	DECOLONIZING POLITICAL THEORY	408
12.1	The nature of political theory	408
12.2	The nature of the national political order of a society	409
12.2.1	A critique of Liberalism	409
12.2.1.1	Critique of the concept of parliamentary democracy	409
12.2.1.2	Critique of the concept of the separation of church and state	420
12.2.1.3	Critique of the concept of the nation-state	423
12.2.1.4	Critique of the concept of the separation of powers	425
12.2.2	A critique of Marxism	426
12.2.2.1	Critique of the theory of the state	427
12.2.2.2	Critique of the concept of the nation-state	431
12.3	Decolonizing law	432
12.3.1	Human rights	433
12.3.2	Criminal law	439
12.4	Political theory and social struggle	443
12.4.1	Liberation ideologies in the 21st century	443
12.4.2	Decolonizing Marxism and socialism	444
12.4.3	Decolonizing social movements	449
12.4.4	The narratives on civilization	453
12.4.4.1	The Chinese narrative	453
12.4.4.2	The Iranian narrative	457
12.4.4.3	The Russian narrative	458
12.4.4.4	The African narrative	460
12.4.4.5	The Indian narrative	463
12.4.4.6	The Latin Abya Yala narrative	467
12.4.4.7	Initiatives for a new world civilization	471
13.	IMAGINING A NEW WORLD CIVILIZATION	473
13.1	Views about a better world	473
13.1.1	Non-Western concepts of a better world	473
13.1.2	Western concepts of a better world	476
13.1.2.1	The liberal view	476
13.1.2.2	The Marxist view	477
13.1.3	Imperial conceptions of the future	479
13.2	How to imagine a better destiny for humankind?	480
13.3	Exercises in reverse engineering	483
13.3.1	An example from the past	483

13.3.2	An example from the current generation	485
13.4	Imagining a horrible future	487
13.4.1	New pandemics	488
13.4.2	Ecological disasters	489
13.4.3	World War III	491
13.4.3.1	Previous World Wars	491
13.4.3.2	World War III will be a nuclear war	492
13.4.3.3	USA has the motive to start World War III	495
13.4.3.4	The US' stance towards China	505
13.4.3.5	The US' stance towards Iran and Palestine	506
13.4.3.6	The US' stance towards North Korea	511
13.4.3.7	Colonizing the mind in order to prepare for World War III	511
13.4.3.8	The historical significance of the 2022 war in Ukraine	513
13.5	Another, better world, is possible	514
13.5.1	The possibilities to create a better world	514
13.5.2	A decolonial view of a better world: the concept of a new world civilization	515
13.5.3	The sun will rise again ... and probably in less than fifty years?	522
REFERENCES		525
NOTES		544
INDEX		562
POSTSCRIPT		572